

MAY DAY - International Workers' Day 2009

Friday, May 1 - Noon to 7pm

New Haven Green

A Call for UNITY

For over 20 years, the May Day Celebration Committee has honored International Workers' Day by organizing an annual event on the New Haven Green. On May 1, the Green comes alive with speakers, arts events, and food. In many countries, May Day is observed as an "Acto Civico": an event that is both a celebration and a commemoration that renews workers' commitment to the struggle for justice. In New Haven, over the last three years, immigrant activists have invigorated the celebration by organizing the Immigrant Workers' Rights march as well as other activities.

In 2009 we stand together for:

-  The Freedom for all workers to organize
-  The Freedom for immigrants to work with respect and dignity
-  The Freedom for all to live in peace without war
-  The Freedom to live in an equal society without discrimination

- ALL DAY (Noon – 7pm): Music, dance, arts and crafts, political speakers, open mic, poetry, juggling, activities for children, free food, Maypole dance

Rain space: United Church on the Green, 270 Temple Street (corner of Temple and Elm Streets)
